Unspoken Forgiveness

By: Vic Bacud

God has been teaching mankind about forgiveness for thousands of years since Adam and Eve. Until now forgiveness is not freely flowing from the heart, especially without the grace of God. When God confronted Adam in the garden why he ate the forbidden fruit, Adam said, "The woman you put here with me gave me the fruit, and I ate it". Then the Lord God asked the woman, "Why did you do this?" She replied, "The snake tricked me into eating it". (Genesis 3, 12-13). Both Adam and Eve were defensive. They blamed each other, the snake and they were not willing to accept fault. They did not ask for God's forgiveness maybe because they did not know what repentance, or forgiveness is all about. Otherwise, God would have forgiven them and then mankind.

We can say that God's salvation plan for mankind started from here. The bible presents several stories and versions of repentance, of asking forgiveness by the offender and giving forgiveness by the offended without even uttering the word of forgiveness. At Calvary, the criminal on the right side of the dying Christ simply asked that he be remembered in paradise and Jesus gracefully gave that forgiveness without utterance of the word. Instead Jesus said, "I promise you that today you will be in paradise with me." (Luke 23: 42-43). Likewise, at the height of Jesus Christ's passion and suffering before crucifixion, Peter denied Jesus three times and after resurrection Jesus Christ returned to Peter and asked three times if Peter loved Jesus. The repentance of Peter was deep hearted and defeated the utterance of Peter to say (cont'd on page 7)

A UNIQUE AND A CHALLENGING MINISTRY

by: Fr. Marce Singson

The Archdiocese of Brisbane is so blessed with so many diverse ethnic communities and most of them, if not all, have contributed to the life and growth of the Catholic Church in the archdiocese and beyond. We have the presence of the Albanians, the Portuguese, Vietnamese, Polish, Indians, Indonesians, Maltese, Slovenians, Sudanese, the Hispano-Americans (Spanish-speaking people from South American countries), Chinese, Samoans, African communities, Italians, the Maronites, the Koreans, Timor Leste, the Filipinos... and many more.

The Filipino community is one of the fastest growing ethnic communities in the archdiocese. In the early year 2000 there were more than 19,000 Filipino Catholics spread all over the archdiocese from Hervey Bay to Kilcoy, to Kingaroy and Coolangatta. Since last year, the number of this community has reached to more than 29,000. The swell of the number is due to the following factors: the influx of the skilled workers direct from Philippines, the on-going migration direct from the Philippines, Filipino families who have been living for so many years in Papua New Guinea, New Zealand, Singapore, England and from some other Middle Eastern countries have also migrated to Australia.

Giving pastoral care to the Filipino community is unique and challenging. Here's some facts:

1. Ethnic chaplains focus their pastoral care only to ONE community, the Filipino chaplain divides his time to care for so MANY communities existing within the Filipino community.
2. Except for the Chinese and Vietnamese, all ethnic chaplains have less people to care for, but the Filipino chaplain has to pastorally care to more than 29,000 Filipino Catholics, and most of these people are very active in their faith.
3. Whereas most ethnic communities live or congregate in one area like Vietnamese in Inala and Chinese in Sunnybank which makes the chaplains so easy to reach and care for them, the Filipinos are spread in every corner of the archdiocese, so that the Filipino chaplain has to criss-cross the road everyday.
4. Whereas most of the ethnic chaplains are enjoying their priestly ministry as associate pastor, the Filipino chaplain is also the administrator of a vibrant and fast growing parish in Loganholme. Connected to the parish are two big Catholic schools (primary and college) and a nursing home.

But I must say that the Filipino chaplaincy is one of the most highly structured and well-organised community in the archdiocese of Brisbane.

Years in Waiting

Did you know that most people spend an average of about five years of their lives just standing in lines? What kinds of lines? Grocery checkout, driver's license renewal, bank, stadium, restaurant, ticket window subway station, and so forth. Most people spend a total of six months of their life waiting at stop lights! That's not all, how about pastimes?

I came across a book by Robert Strand entitled "365 Moments to Cherish". After a year of research, a consulting firm in America studied hundreds of people across the nation to determine how people spend their time and where they spend it. Most people don't realize how much time they're wasting,

This time-use study estimated the average person spends six months at stop lights, eight months opening junk mail, one year searching for misplaced objects, two years attempting to return phone calls to people who never seem to be available, four years doing housework, five years in lines and six years eating.

"The whole point is to spend time doing the things that we want to do rather than the things we dislike," said the researcher. The study of time usage is an interesting subject because everyone of us has the same exact allotment of time. Yes, I know, perhaps not in the length of our living, but in the sense that each of us has an exact total of 24 hours in each day and 168 hours in each week. Time is also a non-renewable commodity. There is not one minute of your life that can be lived more than once.

When we were growing up as little ones, time seemed to drag... minutes seemed endless... but now the minutes flash past, but the years seem long. Have you ever given any serious thought as to how you invest your time in a worthy and fulfilling life?

While we're on the subject, have you thought about spending your time as well as your money? There are 168 hours in a week and at tite would be 16.8 hours. If you attend church twice on Sunday that may account for about 5 hours, and throw in another 3 for a mid-week activity for church or community work, and you still have 8.8 hours left! Where would be a good place to make this investment of your time? How about helping a neighbor or sick friend? Help building a better community?

There's no doubt that we Filipinos are very generous in spending our time and money but do we spend it wisely? The Filipino community centre is now twenty years in waiting. Many have asked our leaders, are they fulfilling the purpose and achieving key objectives? Did they initiated the big and ambitious project with a realistic project plan that would benefit our young generation? It seems that no clear structure had existed as to when will become a reality.

Recently the chaplaincy took a challenge to invite leaders in our community for a general assembly, a step towards an aim of unity and sense of togetherness. Although the role of the chaplaincy is solely spiritual, we are extending our ministry to social, financial and community building.

A brand new guideline to continue the project was created - mapping totally fresh constitution and even made research of the full skeleton and provided some flesh ideas including financial resources. The group who is willing to inherit the challenge came up with a big progress in making our Filipino dream a reality. But in the end, it seems there's still no future as primary groups claim to continue their own dreams.

Considering the time spent in meetings and organizing events, we lost time and opportunities - our community is still confused and divided. A dream that only God knows when to happen.

"Be very careful, then, how you live... not as unwise but as wise making the most of every opportunity" (Eph. 5:15-16).

Love Scoring

The Marriage Enrichment Movement-Brisbane had just concluded their 17th Marriage Enrichment Seminar (MES) on 21-22 May 2010. This column would like to congratulate and welcome the 6 couples to the MEM family. Thank you to the officers and the Core Group who organised the seminar. Job well done.

In my private conversation with Fr. Nards Mercene, he said: "I started the MES 20 years ago in Sydney, at least one seminar a month, then here in Brisbane 10 years later. I thought I was bringing God closer to married couples, but as years goes by, I discovered they were the one bringing God closer to me. I am grateful and I hope the couples involved in MEM will continue their commitment by organising seminars and retreats for married couples.

In our modern era of painkillers and instant gratification, we tend to forget that life entails suffering. We tend to forget that love entails suffering.

On 24 March 1986, just before the Academy Awards, Barbara Walters interviewed President and Mrs. Reagan.

One of the questions she asked was how they managed to keep their love alive across 35 years of married life. When they didn't answer immediately, Barbara tried to help them by saying, "Was it because both of you were so willing to give and take on a 50-50 basis?"

The first Lady broke into a gentle laugh and said, "Oh my, married life never breaks that evenly. Sometimes it's more like 90-10. So often one of us has had to give up so much more than the other." The president nodded in total agreement.

That was the high point of the interview, because it made such an important point: When it comes to love, we can't keep score! The day a husband or a wife begins to keep score in a marriage, that is the day that marriage begins to die.

Married life and family life, by nature, involve pain, sometimes a great deal of pain. And that pain rarely divides itself evenly between family members. More often than not it's a lopsided division-sometimes terribly lopsided, like 90-10.

Last year, in one of the MEM retreats, Fr. Sanchez, a Passionist priest, recommended a book "The Shack" by William Paul Young. It was one of the best book I ever read. Page by page the author unveiled the complicated do's and don'ts that distort a relationship into a religion were washed away as I understood better about the Father, Son and Holy Spirit. I highly recommend this book to all. Don't miss this transforming story of grace. Today is Trinity Sunday and it reminds me about "the Shack".

In closing let us pray a simple prayer, sums up what we have been reading in the past few weeks:

"Lord, alone we are only a spark, but in the Spirit we are a fire. Lord, alone we are only a string, but in the Spirit we are a lyre. Lord, alone we are only an anthill, but in the Spirit we are a mountain. Lord, alone we only a drop, but in the Spirit we are a fountain. Lord, alone we are only a feather but in the Spirit we are a wing. Lord, alone we are only a beggar, but in the Spirit we are a King." Amen.

A letter of support and appreciation

Dear Bishop Joseph,

My name is Kevin Barber and I am a parishioner of St Matthew's Parish at Loganholme.

My reason for writing to you is to let you know of all the marvelous improvements our Parish Priest (Administrator), Fr Marce Singson has instigated for our Parish in the short time he has been our Administrator.

The last time I met you was when our previous Priest, the then Fr Peter Brady had decided to leave the Parish for personal reasons and you had the task of informing the congregation of his intentions. For the following months our parishioners were very anxious and confused, not knowing the future of our Parish. It was only when Fr Marce arrived that the parishioners began to have some sense of stability and when Fr Marce informed us that he was officially appointed the Administrator of our Parish our parishioners fears were at last put to rest. We hope that he can remain our Administrator for many years to come, although I know that this could be a bit selfish on our part.

I can only imagine that it wouldn't have been an easy task for Fr Marce, coming to a new country, leaving his family behind in the Philippines, taking on the responsibilities of a new parish, learning to drive on our dangerous roads and adapting to a new culture and language but he persevered and conquered every challenge in his path. Fr Marce also has the enormous task of administering to the Filipino community of South East Queensland which covers a very large congregation over a geographically dispersed area.

Having been in the Defence Force I regularly had to move location and change parishes with each posting. I have found with Fr Marce at St Matthew's I now have a spiritual home that I am extremely happy with. Fr Marce's homilies each week are meaningful, interesting, relevant and at times humorous with a message or messages that I can relate to and reflect on.

Fr Marce works very long hours putting the needs of our Parish and our parishioners ahead of his own needs at all times, something I greatly admire him for.

Late last year Fr Marce took it upon himself to give our church a 'Spiritual Facelift' which included the procurement of a crucifix, Stations of the Cross, a Statue of Our Lady and a Tabernacle light. To date, most of these items have been installed which has made an enormous difference to the appearance and feel of our church as a place of worship. Fr Marce is awaiting the delivery and installation of the Stations of the Cross from overseas before having a blessing of the new additions. There has been much work undertaken to make this project come to fruition, something all our parishioners will benefit from both now and for many years to come. Many have expressed their joy and appreciation of Fr Marce's efforts to make the church feel like a 'real church'. By Fr Marce giving the congregation an opportunity to contribute to this 'Spiritual Facelift' it has increased the congregation's feeling of involvement and 'sense of belonging' to St Matthew's.

Within the parish we are aware of all that Fr Marce has done for also important that his superiors in the archdiocese were also made aware of the importance of Fr Marce to St Matthew's.

Thank you Mr Barber for giving us a much appreciated summary of the improvement to St. Matthew's Parish thru the excellent pastoral care of Fr. Marce. May God continue to shepherd St. Matthew's parishioners thru all that happens in the parish community. Thank you for message supporting Fr. Marce.

Ethnic Ministers Council's Multicultural Fiesta

Thank you to all who participated at the multicultural fiesta and supported our Filipino youth last April 17. The event would not have been complete without your efforts and contribution. We received very good feedback from everyone who attended. A special thank you to the Mabuhay dance group, your performance was enjoyed by all. Thank you also to the stall minders for your contribution. It was great that we had 2 Filipino stalls at this event. It was a nice experience for all of us. Until next time. - Joanne Tenorio.

Sweet May

Sweet May hath come to love us, flowers, trees, their blossoms don, and through the blue heavens above us the very clouds move on. (Heinrich Heine)

This was the sentiment as the Caboolture Chaplaincy held another resounding success of its annual Santacruzian Procession in honour of the Holy Cross, the Virgin Mary and the month of May. Seventeen beautiful Reynas, one Prinsipe, Methuselah and eight angels were followed to the church by their parents, friends, officers and members of the Chaplaincy and parishioners of St Peters Caboolture on Sunday, 16 May 2010. The Holy Rosary was recited in the procession and culminated with the monthly Chaplaincy Mass. The Couples for Christ made the day more special with their beautiful music. They now sing every 2nd month at the Caboolture Chaplaincy Mass alternating with the Caboolture Chaplaincy Choir.

The Caboolture Chaplaincy Choir has a new look with a very colourful Filipiniana inspired uniform. The group had a surprise visit in one of their weekly practice. Sr Necy (of Fr Dom Flores' chaplaincy time) paid the choir a visit while on holidays at Bribie Island.

Attendance to the monthly chaplaincy mass has seen a steady increase every time. Support for the monthly hamper raffle also continues. The hamper raffle will be suspended from June to October to make way for other chaplaincy fundraising activities. Through these fundraising endeavours the chaplaincy is able to fund its projects. The Caboolture Chaplaincy has given support to 3 families in need with the help of the other sub-chaplaincies and some kababayans.

The 61 seater bus for the annual pilgrimage to Canungra on 25 September 2010 has been booked and the Caboolture Chaplaincy is now accepting bookings.

The Caboolture Chaplaincy dance night this year will be held on Saturday, 02 October 2010, and will be held at the Morayfield Community Hall. Sponsors and prizes are currently being finalised and tickets will be printed and available shortly thereafter.

The "Fil-Aust Caboolture Chaplaincy" is now on Facebook for international networking and outreach.

Pinoys on the Coast Celebrate Flores de Mayo and Santacruzán

The Flores de Mayo at Santacruzán Festival was held on Sunday, 2 May 2010 at Casey Hall, Clear Island Waters. The festivity was a whole day affair which commenced with prayer of the Holy Rosary. A procession followed from Hall to the Sacred Heart Church.

The procession included 76 sagalas, a mixture of young children and young adults all dressed so beautifully. The gowns were glamorous and awesome, some outfits were prepared by parents and the rest were brought in direct from the Philippines. It seems so many parents have hidden talent and skills when it comes to creating fabulous gowns. The escorts cannot be outdone in their splendid barong tagalogs and so are the cute little angels. Of course to top it all was the grand karosa of Mother Mary decked with lovely flowers. Such a wonderful sight. This year generated a great interest with large participation of sagalas. It might double up next year.

There was the lunch break of course with a number of Filipino food stalls that catered for everyone's taste. There was abundant supply of food. A non-stop entertainment followed that featured a latin dance, Filipino traditional dances and rendition of songs by the popular and great Pnoise on Coast Vocal Group. Another highlight of the day was the raffle draw with the 1st prize - one return airfare to the Philippines.

The festival is one of the major fundraising events for the Gold Coast Chaplaincy as all funds raised go to the "Give a Life" project with PGH (Philippine General Hospital). It is intended to patients who are most in need.

The festival was a huge success as shown by the attendance, smiles and feedback from the people. The committee gains so much satisfaction from the appreciation of the community. The success is attributed from the united effort of everyone.. from participants of the program, the sagalas, escorts, parents, sponsors and all the valued volunteers. A big big thank you to all.

News from IPSWICH Chaplaincy

By: Thelma Woodman

The Catholic Filipino Australian Chaplaincy of Ipswich organized a bus trip to Bribie Island on the 14th of March 2010. After the beach activities, everyone headed to Morayfield for some shopping. The weather was perfect and it was a successful trip.

Palm Sunday was celebrated in the Ipswich Chaplaincy on the 28th of March 2010 by our Chaplain, Fr Marce Singson. It was excellent to see many parishioners who attended the mass.

Santacruzian and Flores de mayo was held for the first time in the Ipswich Chaplaincy on the 23rd of May 2010. Many spectators from locations as far as the Esk Shire to Brisbane attended the event. It was an amazing colorful event and many new faces came to be part of the celebration. I would like to thank the beautiful Queens, their Escorts and Angels with their parents, families, relatives and friends for their hard work and support for this event, especially for raising money for the orphanages in the Philippines. Reyna Elena for 2010 was Veronica Martin. I would also like to thank the choir members and officers of the Ipswich chaplaincy for their dedication and hard work. Without their support this event would not have been a success.

(Cont. Unspoken Forgiveness...) "Lord forgive me". Jesus in turn accepted Peter without saying "I forgive you", hence giving Peter more responsibility over the church.

The first disobedience was committed in heaven against God by the archangel Lucifer. At that time, there were no devils to tempt Lucifer. It was self pride and envy that Lucifer wanted to be equal with God. It follows that angels are not perfect though they are more powerful than human beings. Only God is perfect and divine. Both angels and human beings were created by God, but only the angels see God face to face from the moment they existed. They deliver God's messages. However they are not part of God's salvation plan. When they sin against God they are cast to the everlasting wrath of God (Isaiah 14:12-14). There is no forgiveness for them. Only mankind can seek the forgiveness of God because humans are part of God's salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ. - Vic Bacud
